Two Possible Approaches of the Contemporary Chinese Diasporas Views of China: A Case Study of Professor John Wong and Leo Suryadinata

Chang-Hung CHEN, Yuan-Ning YANG

Abstract

Professor John Wong and Leo Suryadinata is the president of EAI and CHC separately. Their researches impact deeply to their institutions. The main focus of this essay is to find an approach of Singaporean China Study by comparative studying. The result of the paper is that the research of EAI focus on the political-economy of contemporary China. But the research of CHC was mainly discussed Chinese history. There are obvious differences between EAI and CHC, but they actually show what their inspiration to home country. This article adopts the perspective of the diasporic theory to analyze the key figure of EAI and CHC.

Keywords: EAI, CHC, diasporic theory, China study, China acknowledge