

The initial research of effect between the parents' upbringing and the children's self-respect

Li-Rong Chen

Aabstract

Family is not only a space that we first contact with people but the longest relationship we have. When we were born, parents give us ultimate concerns and cares. It is obvious that family plays an important role in the courses of children's growth. The article is focusing on the parents' education, and how is it working on. In order to achieve this aim, first, define the meanings and connotations of parents' education. Second, state the basic theory of parents' education, retrace the relative questionnaires of the research. Last, focus on the way of parents' education then evaluate and analyze it. Submitting an effective upbringing way in order to give the reference of upbringing.

Keyword : upbringing 、 self-respect

